MP'S HOME COMFORTS!

By CHRIS MOSS
moss@hertsessexnews.co.uk

HARLOW MP Bill Rammell has spent thousands of pounds of taxpayers' money refurbishing his family home.

According to edited details of Mr Rammell's Parliamentary expenses published online last week, the Minister for the Armed Forces claimed a total of £14,575 for redecoration, refurbishment, furniture and electrical goods between June 2004 and March 2006.

The money was also spent on a new bathroom suite, bed, mattresses, carpets and even a kitchen sink.

This week Mr Rammell insisted all the claims he made under the MPs' Additional Costs Allowance conformed to rules set out in contemporaneous editions of expenses guide The Green

Book, which states MPs should only claim for expenses "wholly, exclusively and necessarily incurred" when staying away from their main residence.

"Before I stopped claiming under the ACA allowance, all of my claims were explicitly approved as being in accordance with the rules of the fees office," he told the Star this week.

"All my claims, along with claims of all MPs, are being re-examined by an independent, external auditing team and I will of course follow any decision they issue."

"This team will look at claims in relation to the rules which existed at the time and will take account of any issues arising from that examination which cause them to question the original judgment."

The 2003 edition of The Green Book – which was introduced shortly after Mr Rammell purchased a one-bedroom flat in central London in 2002 – also states that a minister's main residence must be in London, allowing Mr Rammell to claim ORGANISERS of Saturday's Midnight Walk in Harlow expect the final total raised for St Clare Hospice to top £150,000.

More than 1,600 people took part in the walk which was supported by the Star. "We were overwhelmed by how many people turned out to paint the town pink and support the hospice," said events organiser Tracy Meale. "It was a fantastic night with a great atmosphere and lots of fun!"

"This money will make such a difference to the hospice and the care it provides to our patients and their families."

Hospital investigates second 'theft' claim

By LOUISE SASSOON
News Editor
sassooni@hertsexnews.co.uk

A SECOND investigation is under way at Harlow's Princess Alexandra Hospital into the alleged theft of jewellery from an elderly patient.

Pensioner Elizabeth Slee (85) has been receiving treatment for two months after suffering a debilitating stroke.

When she was admitted to hospital Mrs Slee, who also suffers from Alzheimer's, was wearing a necklace containing two gold bands and an antique diamond solitaire engagement ring. But her family contacted police after claiming the solitaire ring worth hundreds of pounds was removed from the necklace.

The allegations come a week after the Star reported police and health chiefs had launched separate investigations into claims two diamond rings were stolen from the body of an elderly patient.

This week Mrs Slee's granddaughter, Sharon Elston (39) of Lower Meadow, Harlow, said: "It is just disgusting.

"The ring was an engagement ring which she has had for about 60 years and now it has gone. One day it was there and the next day it wasn't.

"My nan can't talk and sleeps a lot. I think somebody has stolen it from around her neck.

"She never takes the necklace off so it wouldn't just disappear and the other two rings are still on it so it seems extremely strange."

Miss Elston said the family contacted police after her aunts noticed the ring missing.

"My nan is not well, she is 86 this year," she added. "It just defies belief and I think it is disgusting."

Both the police and the PAH NHS Trust confirmed an investigation into the second allegation of theft was taking place.

Store installs CCTV to catch 'speed racers'

ILLEGAL speed races are taking place at a Harlow retail park fuelling fears they could have tragic consequences.

As many as 10 super-charged vehicles are said to be using the car park at Princes Gate for challenges.

The drivers have even been seen spilling drums of oil onto the surface to transform it into a skid pan.

Now the bosses of new retailer GO Outdoors have vowed to help police catch the culprits by setting up CCTV to film them in the act.

Several hours of video footage have already been archived and could be used as evidence in the event of a prosecution.

GO Outdoors manager Dave Smith said: "The people of Harlow deserve better. We are a new retailer in Harlow investing millions of pounds to generate jobs and help breathe new life into a retail area which we believe has the potential to be one of the best in Essex.

"But this night racing needs to stop. If it doesn't, we fear someone may be killed because they drive so fast and recklessly."

A spokeswoman for Essex Police said officers were working with retailers to stop the menace and added that one car had already been identified.

She said anyone caught in the act would be subject to a section 59 order which would result in their car, or any vehicle they are seen driving, being seized if they are found to be committing further acts of anti-social behaviour.

Lotto chiefs reject park funding bid

A BID for National Lottery funds to transform Harlow Town Park has failed.

Harlow Council applied to the Heritage Lottery Fund for a grant to deliver a range of schemes set out in the Town Park Masterplan.

But after a six-month appraisal the bid was rejected.

Council chiefs are now going back to the drawing board to strengthen the application ready for the next deadline of February 28 next year.

They also have to review the funding strategy for delivering the Masterplan which is due to be discussed at a future meeting.

Street traders need a licence for car parks

STREET traders who set up stall in areas across Harlow will now be required to purchase a license after councillors decided to adopt a wider interpretation of the word 'street'.

Under rules set out in 2001, the council drew up a list of areas in which a license was needed for street trading.

But now it has decided to extend the areas to cover retail car parks and other places which were previously deemed private land to which the public has access.

The move, which was agreed by members of the environment and community committee on Monday night, comes after a High Court judgement ruled in certain cases private property could be deemed as a street.

Unlicensed traders who operate in the areas of the revised arrangements will be contacted by the council to inform them of the changes and given the opportunity to apply for a license.

Climb up a mountain?

Well, it's summit to do

SOLICITOR Emma Cochran is getting herself in peak condition for a gruelling charity challenge.

For Emma (28), of Station Road, Old Harlow, will be climbing the highest mountain in Africa in the hope of raising £4,000 for breast cancer services at Harlow's Princess Alexandra Hospital and St Margaret's Hospital, Epping. "It will be the challenge of a lifetime but I am worried about how I will cope with the altitude sickness," she said. "That will be my biggest challenge. It is the first time that I have ever done anything like this in my life!"

Emma, who will be tackling the 19,300ft Mount Kilimanjaro in Tanzania in a nine day expedition in August, is already well into her preparations.

"I started to get ready by collecting my kit," she said. "I have been going for long walks and have been using my gym membership for the first time." She will be climbing as part of a group which will also include school friend Samantha Sizeland (29), also from Harlow. She is hoping to raise the large chunk of the money through a charity Wild West fun night complete with a bucking bronco and a barbecue which will be held next month.

She is also relying on friends and family to sponsor her for the climb which starts on August 28. "I have chosen to help cancer services because they are local and I feel that it will benefit the community who are directly affected," she said.

To sponsor Emma or Samantha, visit their webpages – www.justgiving.com/emma_cochran or www.justgiving.com/samanthasizeland. To find out more about the fundraising evening, email a_warner@sky.com.

Actress Anna's gift to science

FORMER EastEnders actress Anna Wing has donated £5,000 to the Science Alive Centre which is to be built as part of the new Leisure Zone complex in Harlow. Ms Wing, who played the character of Lou Beale, was awarded an MBE in the Queen's Birthday Honours and celebrated by donating the cash to the project in which her son, Jon O'Connor, is involved.

The project needs to raise £250,000 to create an education and entertainment centre in Leisure Zone which is being constructed in Third Avenue. Mr O'Connor, who is chairman of Science Alive, said: "I'm thrilled that we're both getting involved in this unique Harlow project. Science Alive has been built up by a great crowd of community activists that Harlow can be proud of."

He added: "I know times are hard but I really do hope that others will come forward to make this happen and join the Science Alive Supporters Group. Our wonderful team of volunteers and project workers and the trustees will be immensely grateful for any help, no matter how small or large."

Tots' group wins national award

A SING-and-Sign group for tots has won an award for the third year running.

The local group, which runs sessions in Old Harlow, won the best toddler development activity title in the national What's On 4 Little Ones Awards, as well as finishing runner-up in the best baby development activity.

Katy Bovaird, who runs the programme in which tots sign to music as a way of encouraging communication, said: "It was a thrill just to be nominated for this award and now to win as well is just fantastic."

Sing and Sign classes run on Thursdays and Fridays at St John's Arts and Recreation Centre in Old Harlow. For more information log on to the website at www.singandsign.co.uk or call 07971 221487.

Club is celebrating 45 years of flower power

MEMBERS of Harlow Flower Club had a blooming marvellous time when they celebrated the group's 45th anniversary.

The club, which meets at the United Christian Fellowship Church in Purford Green once a month, marked the anniversary by holding a cheese and wine party, the highlight of which was the cutting of a special birthday cake.

A grand finale to the year long celebration will take place in November with a demonstration of flower arranging at The Playhouse.

Founding member and club secretary Brenda Cook said: "I am really shocked that we have reached this milestone."

"We had a toast to another 10 years at the least, so it looks like I shall be going along to meetings on my zimmer frame!"

Thugs jailed for racist attack on Rastafarian

TWO men guilty of a racially motivated attack on a Rastafarian have been jailed.

Victim Neil Grant was walking along a cycle path near Second Avenue, Harlow, last July when he was racially abused and had a dreadlock pulled out, Chelmsford Crown Court was told.

Jason McMenamin (20), of The Dashes, Harlow, and James Ellen (23), of Arkwrights, Harlow, were each jailed for six months for the assault. A 16-year-old girl, who has been sectioned under the Mental Health Act, will be sentenced at a later date.

Juliet Donovan, prosecuting, said Mr Grant was approached by Ellen who called him a "black b.....d" and swung a bottle at him. Mr Grant was then punched in the face and kicked during an attack which lasted up to four minutes. He suffered a swollen nose, two black eyes, cuts and a tear to his eyelid and was off work for four weeks.

James Howard, representing Ellen, said in mitigation: "He can't remember what happened because of drink, - he was hammered. He has now attended an addiction centre."

Graham Brown, representing McMenamin, said: "He has shown genuine remorse and he approached the victim today to say sorry. Drink is a real problem."

Passing sentence, Judge Anthony Goldstaub told the pair: "This was an appalling, racially motivated attack on Mr Grant, a Rastafarian who was walking on a public footpath when he was set upon with physical and verbal abuse."

"Apart from insulting Mr Grant by shouting racial abuse, he was punched, kicked and pulled to the ground and held there while beaten."

Ellen received an extra three months for breaching a conditional discharge and unlawfully abstracting electricity.

Please don't join the bin rebellion

By LOUISE SASSOON, News Editor
sassoona@hertsessexnews.co.uk

COUNCIL chiefs in Harlow are urging residents to boycott a national newspaper's campaign against wheelie bins.

A week after the Star revealed black bin bag collections would be phased out from September, a number of residents have sent protest coupons to Harlow Council chief executive Malcolm Morley asking for householders to be given the right to choose between wheelie bins or biodegradable plastic bags.

The coupons are part of a Daily Mail crusade to halt what it describes as the 'blight of the wheelie bin' and give residents a choice over how they dispose of their household waste.

Tony Hall, chairman of Harlow Council's environment and community committee, said: "The Daily Mail article implied that all wheelie bin collections work in the same way but that's not the case.

FLASHBACK: Last week's Star report

"We want to stress that Harlow's food waste will be collected weekly and that we will be providing help to people who can't physically manage the bins. The bins will not be microchipped, as implied in the article."

"We appreciate that people don't find the bins attractive. Councillors who agreed the contract all live in Harlow and we will also be putting the bins in our gardens and on to our streets. However there is a stark choice for us all: recycle more or risk paying more council tax if we don't hit Government targets."

Householders will be provided with two wheelie bins - one for recyclable items and the other for non-recyclables - which will be collected on alternate weeks. They will also receive a food waste bin and a kitchen food waste caddy.

Homes considered unsuitable for wheelie bins will remain within the current collection system and the council said it will also provide assistance to those who cannot manage to move the bins.

But Les Coben, chairman of Harlow Pensioners' Action Association which last year delivered a petition to Harlow Council opposing the plans, argued the new system is not practical and is calling on HPAA members to support the campaign in a last-ditch attempt to reverse the decision which he claims will cost upwards of £4m to introduce.

"We have to keep on," he told the Star. "I have some members that are only as big as the bins themselves. How are they going to manage when you have bin men saying they can't move the bins if they are too heavy for health and safety reasons?"

Flag flies to show support for UK's armed forces

PATRIOTIC council chiefs saluted the bravery and commitment of Britain's troops by raising a special flag at the Civic Centre.

Monday's ceremony was held as part of the countdown to National Armed Forces Day on Saturday which has been organised as both a celebration and a mark of respect to UK servicemen past and present. Harlow Council chairwoman Edna Stevens raised the specially-designed flag during the ceremony which took place outside the Civic Centre in the Water Gardens.

Also present were several local councillors and members of armed forces organisations. Ceremonies also took place across the country as well as in Afghanistan, Iraq, Cyprus and the Falkland Islands where British troops are currently serving.

"We are pleased to be supporting this special event reminding us of how important our armed forces are to this country and to the people they protect across the world," said Mrs Stevens.

Biker gang member jailed on gun charge

A FORMER Israeli soldier who was one of the leaders of a motorcycle group called The Outlaws has been jailed for possessing a handgun.

Police officers seized the Browning 7.65 pistol from Avitzur Pessach during an early morning raid at an address in Bishopsfield, Harlow, last year.

When he was searched he was also found to be in possession of amphetamine and cannabis.

Pessach (45), of The Readings, Harlow, pleaded guilty at Chelmsford Crown Court to possessing a prohibited weapon and ammunition without a certificate, possession of amphetamine with intent to supply and possessing cannabis.

Sentencing him to five years in prison, Judge Christopher Ball said that the drugs offences "paled into insignificance" to the weapons charge.

"Drugs and weapons are a potentially lethal combination," he said. "Weapons like this must be taken out of circulation and people who allow them to be concealed must be taken out of circulation as well."

Mark Lakin, prosecuting, told the court police went to the address at Bishopsfield on February 27 last year.

Four people were in the premises and one of them led officers to some cannabis resin. They found a collection of knives, swords, blunt and sharp weapons and the gun with nine rounds of ammunition in the lounge.

They also seized a quantity of amphetamine at four times street purity and worth more than £3,000, 30 grams of herbal cannabis, other drugs paraphernalia, details of Pessach's membership of The Outlaws and up to £8,000 in cash.

Andrew Kerry, representing Pessach, said in mitigation he had been given the pistol to look after by another member of the gang who had since died in a motorcycle accident.

Mr Kerry said the drugs were from Pessach's own supplier.

As well as jailing Pessach, the judge ordered that the bulk of the weapons found by police should be confiscated.

Walkers are on the right track

CHILDREN and their parents had a rail-ly good time when they dressed up as characters from the adventures of Thomas the Tank Engine and Friends to take part in a sponsored walk for charity.

More than 50 people headed down to Parndon Wood Nature Reserve in Harlow on Saturday for a stroll around the grounds which raised more than £200 for the National Autistic Society.

Face-painting and various activities were also on offer for the children while the adults could put their feet up and enjoy a well-deserved cup of tea.

The walk was organised by Rowen Saunders, pictured sitting in the train, whose three-year-old-son, Oak, has been diagnosed with the disorder.

"It was a fantastic day and everybody enjoyed themselves," she told the Star. "It was about a 20-minute walk which took us around 40 minutes to complete because the children were running around and enjoying themselves.

"I'm really pleased with how it went."

The following day the nature reserve hosted a craft day to celebrate the summer solstice.

Event organiser Leanne Block said: "We made friendship bracelets, nature drums, rattlers and shakers to make music for the solstice and wrote summer poems. It was a really enjoyable day."

Parking permits proposal to help weekday workers

PARKING permits could be introduced into areas around Harlow to free up spaces for health workers and shop staff.

Council chiefs are planning to test public reaction to the proposals which would see land at Bush Fair, Sewell Harris Close, The Stow and Old Harlow designated no-go areas for non-permit holders from 8am-7pm on weekdays.

Members of Harlow Council's environment and community committee agreed on Monday to go ahead with the consultation process.

If the scheme goes ahead, warning signs would be erected at The Stow depot, Jenner House in Old Harlow and Sewell Harris Close in Mark Hall South. In addition, an estimated £90,000 would be spent transforming a parking area at Sherwood House in Bush Fair.

Council officer Joe McGill said the introduction of a permit scheme would have a positive impact on the areas and help alleviate parking problems.

But councillor Chris Millington (Liberal Democrat) told the meeting he had been contacted by residents of Sherwood House who were worried they would not be able to park near their homes if the scheme is introduced and asked if some residents' parking permits could also be introduced.

Mr McGill said removing yellow lines would free up some space for parking and hoped the consultation would bring up any issues residents may have.

expenses on his family home in Harlow by designating it as his second property.

The rules governing the definition of main and secondary dwellings have since changed, but Mr Rammell said the House of Commons fees office advised him against reclassifying his constituency home as his main residence, even though it is where he spends most of his time.

"When I became a minister I was forced by the rules to designate Harlow as my second home for claim purposes," he said. "When the rules changed I took advice from the fees office who confirmed I was in order to continue to claim on my Harlow home."

THE REACTION

ROBERT HALFON
Prospective Conservative
Parliamentary candidate for Harlow

"As far as the individual items Bill has claimed for, I think it should be left to his constituents to decide whether or not they feel each purchase was an appropriate use of taxpayers' money."

"One of the most disappointing things to have come out of the recent revelations is that he classes his London house as his main residence. It is a bit rich for him to criticise me for living in Roydon instead of Harlow while at the same time deeming his main home to be in London."

"It's all very well for him to say he has stopped claiming the ACA and welcomes a shake-up of the expenses system, but it's like shutting the barn door after the horse has bolted."

Everything (including the kitchen sink) A summary of some of Bill Rammell's expense claims

NOVEMBER 2004: Mr Rammell submits receipts totalling £5,765.26 for the supply and installation of a new bathroom suite, tiles and downlights, four months after claiming £270 for a new shower unit.

FEBRUARY 2005: Mr Rammell uses his Additional Costs Allowance to pay a £1,360 bill for the redecoration of his kitchen and a bedroom, for which he also purchased a new bed and mattress for a further £278 and a new carpet for £509.37.

APRIL 2005: Mr Rammell claims £208 for a new desk and chair.

MAY 2005: Mr Rammell submits invoices for a new kitchen sink (£395) and Hewlett Packard printer (£154.96).

JULY 2005: Claims of £99.99 for a garden table and £120 for a mattress

AUGUST 2005: £69.99 for a new suitcase.

NOVEMBER/DECEMBER 2005: Mr Rammell claims £664.94 for a new hallway carpet and £3,250 for the redecoration of hall, stairs and landing.

JANUARY 2006: £150 for the resurfacing of the front path

MARCH 2006: £1,225 for repairs to a leaking box gutter.

During the same two-year period Mr Rammell, whose current salary is £104,050 per annum, also regularly claimed the maximum £400 per month food allowance. However, this was reduced to a budget of up to £200 between 2006 and 2008.

The published claim forms also show that Mr Rammell stopped claiming the ACA for anything other than mortgage interest costs of £475 per month in March of this year, the same month the Star reported he had a second home in London.

PAT ROBERTS
Labour Party member

"I have known Bill for many years and have a huge amount of respect for him as a local MP."

"What he has done may be within the law, but as an MP having been brought up in a working class town with huge social problems, he should be more aware that he should not have claimed expenses such as those for a partial makeover on his own home."

"MPs take a lot of credit for their success stories, they must also face up to and take the consequences when they have failed us."

Working at Cossor led to wedding joy for June

FOLLOWING our request for memories of Harlow firm Cossor, we have been contacted by a reader who used to work there.

June Lawrence, nee Wilkinson, has good reason to remember working for the company as a secretary to the manager back in the late 1950s, for it was there that she first met the man who was to become her husband.

"He was an electronics engineer and that's how we met," June writes. "I loved it and worked there for five years, only giving up when I left to have children."

"We would have day trips out occasionally and I remember one of them being to either Southend or Clacton."

"The people who worked there were very friendly and jolly and everybody got on with everybody else. I think the manager was called Mr Rhoades."

"It was lovely in those days and it is nice to look back on it now."

Thank you for your memories, June. If any readers have any recollections or photographs they would like to share then please get in touch by post or email.

Pond memories of a beauty spot

By LOUISE SASSOON, News Editor
sassoonly@hertsessexnews.co.uk

YOU may remember we ran a picture a few weeks ago of a pond at Harlow Common which suddenly appeared around the time the M11 was built.

The photograph was sent in by Mag Barrett who wanted to know more about the circumstances which led to the pond's creation.

Now, thanks to regular correspondent Ron Bill, we can fill in some of the gaps.

"In February 1969 I was a member of staff in Harlow Council's legal department and worked closely with Hugh Shepherd, a barrister who was assistant clerk of the council," he writes.

"One morning that month we received from the Ministry of Transport a huge bundle of documents that detailed the proposed route of the M11 and seeking the council's observations on the Harlow section."

"We spent many hours with other officers pouring over the details and compiling our submission. We noted the pond at Mill Street would be lost so in our reply to the ministry we said the historic and valued community asset should be replaced."

"One morning in 1972 we were surprised and

Getting to the bottom of fish pond's history

THIS picture of Harlow Common, written from reader Mag Barrett, who asks if any Star readers can fill in the details.

"I remember the pond (created for fishermen) appearing at the time the M11 was completed and believe it may have been paid for by some sort of trade-off for land taken by the motorway," she writes.

"That is probably quite wrong and I would love to know the whole story behind its appearance."

"People would not recognise the spot today. A fast growth of trees and bushes have turned it into a beautiful oasis."

delighted to receive a letter from the department saying a replacement pond would be provided in Harlow Common just south of Potters Field.

"I'm pleased to say it has now matured into a delightful addition to the local environment."

The original pond was very popular with anglers. Reader Barry Jones said he used to go fishing there when he was a child in the 1960s. "I would finish school and walk from Bush Fair to fish there for carp," he said.

Do you remember the pond as a child before it was moved? Why not share your memories by writing to us at 6 West Gate, Harlow, CM20 1JW or email sassoonly@hertsessexnews.co.uk.

Flash floods

Freak rain storms partially closed Harlow Sportcentre and caused thousands of pounds worth of damage. Within minutes the centre's main hall, six squash courts and trimasium were under four inches of water as flash floods streamed in from Hammerskjold Road.

Lightning strikes

Lightning struck a tree outside Harlow police station so fiercely bark was found over the other side of the building. No-one was injured but windows in administration and detectives' offices were smashed.

Woolworths shuts

The Woolworths store in Broad Walk has shut up shop for the last time. The store closed on Thursday and the lease is now up for sale.

Death of teacher

Popular Harlow teacher Bert Deady, of Spinghills, Harlow, has died at the age of 60. Mr Deady, who had also been a local Labour councillor, taught for many years at Broadfields School.

Confusion over 'contamination'

SIR, I write in response to your article "Recycling waste contaminated by the wrong type of plastic" (Star, June 18). Isn't it time Harlow Council's pathetic, half-hearted attempts to appear green and concerned about the environment were put into true perspective?

People want to recycle. They take time and trouble to collect and sort their waste, only to receive a slap in the face from the council which tells them they have contaminated their waste.

They have a genuine desire to find out what they CAN recycle and WHY their waste is not accepted (presumably condemned to landfill sites).

Sorting collections springs to mind as a solution! Apart from the obvious question as to why all plastics are not recycled in a world drowning in the stuff, is it too much to ask for clear guidelines instead of these wishy-washy statements?

The yes/no printed collection bags which may have disintegrated by now are in any case too vague for even the brightest to use with any confidence.

Most plastic is clearly marked with a triangular motif containing a plastic type number in the centre. Why can't the council provide a list of the plastics they will deal with?

And if it is only plastic bottles without tops, shame on them.

Georgina Galloway
address supplied - editor

Bottles or items?

SIR, A report in last week's Star stated that more and more non-recyclable plastics are being put into (recycling) bins. Councillor Tony Hall asked for residents to be careful that their recycling is not contaminated with the wrong type of plastic.

Perhaps the council should consider the guidance they give on their web page under 'Recycling symbols and logos explained'.

Whilst the table of symbols does say bottles with symbols 1 and 2 are accepted in the kerbside scheme, the note above the table says: "Please note: Only items showing symbols numbered 1 and 2 are collected for recycling through our kerbside scheme".

I must admit that I had interpreted the word items to mean that it was not restricted to just bottles, but was restricted to symbols 1 and 2 in any form.

The report also states that plastic bottles should be recycled without lids, yet the 'Recycling from Home' page just says lids should be separate.

No wonder some of us are getting it wrong!

Waste of money

SIR, The exhibition of the plans for a massive overhaul of part of the Harlow Town Centre will be interesting to look at. At the moment the Post Office is being refurbished at an unknown cost and the new build of bedsits on the old Adams House site has cost approx £3m. Both will presumably be pulled down in a couple of years to make way for this overhaul.

Harlow Council claims it doesn't even have the money to bring its own properties up to a decent homes standard on the estate I live on, so surely there's some sort of political logical reasoning behind it, isn't there?

It can't just all be a major waste of taxpayers money and bad planning. Or can it?

Linda Lambert
Bishopsfield, Harlow

Parking shock

SIR, I was horrified today to find that I had to pay £1.40 to park at Wych Elm multi-storey car park so that I could visit my GP at Addison House (and soon to visit my dentist).

MP's expenses claims are hard to swallow

SIR, In 1997 I voted Labour. Like many thousands of others I fell for Blair's whiter-than-white sales pitch.

Unfortunately it didn't take long for things to begin unravelling and for me to discover the real meaning of the word spin – the Iraq war, the death of Dr David Kelly, those weapons of mass destruction that Mr Rammell assured us would be found and which of course, as we know now, never existed and the European Constitution (sorry, Lisbon Treaty) referendum that was promised but never materialised.

And now we have the expenses scam. I read in the Star that Mr Rammell said he was required by the Commons authorities to designate his Harlow home as his second home. Absolute rubbish; Mr Rammell was under no obligation whatsoever to designate Harlow as his second home.

If this were true, why have so many Government ministers been able to flip their homes to gain huge financial advantage?

The choice of which home to designate as his second home was entirely his, and a fine piece of hypocrisy when you take into account the number of times Mr Rammell has criticised his Conservative opponent Robert Halfon for living in Roydon.

Are we to understand from this statement that Mr Rammell's family live in his main residence i.e. London? Can we assume that the utilities, furnishings and £1,500 for food claimed on his Harlow home were consumed/used exclusively by him in the execution of his ministerial duties? I think that many, many voters in Harlow will find that very difficult to believe. It has obviously saved him a great deal more money and cost the taxpayers a correspondingly greater amount to claim on his Harlow home as he probably spends less time in London, hence smaller expenses.

He also claims to be in the bottom 25 per cent of claimants, but in the year 2004/5 he was joint first for claiming £20,902 from his Additional Costs Allowance (source: theyworkforyou.com) and £19,927 the following year. This was, of course, on top of his salary.

So, following Mr Rammell's Damascene conversion regarding the inappropriateness of the expenses system, can the tax-paying voters of Harlow look forward to Mr Rammell repaying the public purse with the profits from his London property when he sells it?

I don't think that anyone in Harlow will be holding their breath!

Ann Russell-Day
Sycamore Field, Harlow

SIR, Having purchased a totally unnecessary home at our expense to avoid the occasional 22-mile commute from Westminster, Bill Rammell tries to convince Harlow voters that he was instructed by "Commons authorities" to designate his Harlow home as his second home.

When I mentioned this to the fairies at the bottom of my garden they fell about laughing and then pointed out that the regulations in the Parliamentary Green Book allow any MP with two or more homes total freedom to designate which is a second home. No ifs, no buts, no arm twisting by mysterious unnamed "Commons authorities".

Freedom to designate, flip and, in some cases, flip to avoid capital gains tax. Certainly freedom to claim hundreds of thousands of pounds of our money for day-to-day living expenses.

I notice Mr Rammell didn't complain about the allowance system when our money was rolling in, but only when the Daily Telegraph spilt the beans.

Once again, please stop treating Harlow voters as idiots Mr Rammell.

David Pugh
Cope Hill, Harlow

Why should I have to pay to access these services which are supposed to be free at point of delivery? Cannot a voucher system be organised by Harlow Council so that I, for example, could purchase six tickets and fill in date and time details, as you do in parking permit neighbourhoods?

How do the elderly and people on benefits afford to access their health care? In this day and age has it reached a point that they have to choose between a meal or park to see their GP or dentist.

Wake up, Harlow Council, and come into our world. And no, I am not prepared to change my GP or dentist as they both provide an excellent service.

M. Smart

The Maples, Harlow

All-party support

SIR, Nigel Clark of STOP Harlow North seems to be challenging Harlow's Conservative council to say that we will oppose the expansion of Harlow proposed under the present Regional Spatial Strategy (Letters, June 11).

What all parties on Harlow Council have said is that we support limited development to the north of Harlow but with certain provisos, two being that Harlow's boundaries change to accommodate the development and that development follows appropriate infrastructure. I do not envisage that stance changing whatever happens at the next general election.

What will change should there be a Conservative government will be the approach to planning. This will return planning powers to a more local level and a more democratic process.

Whether that will make a difference to our preferred options for Harlow's future development I doubt. What may change is the process by which such decisions are reached, so Nigel and his supporters may get another chance to change the outcomes.

Tony Hall, chairman
Environment & Community Committee
Harlow Council

Give us real cops

SIR, One of the photographs that accompanied the report on the tragic firebomb attack in Bush Fair was said to show police officers distributing leaflets appealing for information.

However, these were not police officers but police community support officers and sadly that is part of the problem. They have no power of arrest, no extra powers and serve as no deterrent to anti-social behaviour.

The 'streetwise' are very aware of this and these pathetic attempts at policing on the cheap are a waste of time and money.

Whilst Britain continues its downward slide into a feral 'Mad Max' type society, both central and local government pass laws wasting taxpayers' money on policing measures that are no more than attempts to paper over the cracks.

Whilst this continues, the sort of anti-social, unruly and criminal behaviour so tragically highlighted by this attack are more likely.

We want real police patrolling with real powers and action against those who blight our inner cities and towns.

Garage raider caught after crashing his van

A CARPENTER who held up a petrol filling station in Harlow by pretending two pieces of piping held together with tape were a gun has been jailed for four years.

Richard Satchell (40), of Doulton Close, Harlow, fled with £110 after the raid on the BP garage in Potter Street.

But Chelmsford Crown Court heard police were able to trace him to his home after he crashed his van into some parked cars in Loughton following the robbery.

Satchell pleaded guilty to robbery and to possessing an imitation firearm with intent to cause fear of violence.

Mark Lakin, prosecuting, told the court that the robbery took place at 11.50pm on February 23 this year.

He said Satchell had approached the petrol station assistant asking for cigarette papers and handed over a handful of coins.

As the assistant started to count the coins Satchell pulled out the pipes from his jacket. The assistant believed the pipes were a firearm and Satchell said: "Give me the money now".

Satchell then grabbed the cash and made his escape but crashed in Loughton and was arrested later that day.

Graham Brown, representing Satchell, said in mitigation: "He expresses genuine remorse and has empathy with the victim and how he must have felt faced with a weapon that looked like a shotgun.

"There's no excuse and he regrets finding himself in this position. A father of three, he now knows he faces a long separation from his children.

"He realised he was going down and sought help but none was available."

Sentencing him to four years, Judge Christopher Ball told him: "There cannot be many in court who do not know somebody affected by the downturn in the economy but other people don't react as you reacted."

Charity in desperate need of a new base

A CHARITY which uses a garage as a base to help Harlow youngsters combat emotional problems is pleading for help to move to better premises.

The Youth Concern Trust has been operating from the back of a residential house in The Hides for most of the 21 years it has been in existence.

But it now needs to move to bigger and better surroundings in order to meet demand and is appealing for the public's help to refurbish a dilapidated building in The Dashes.

YCT director Robert Locke, pictured above with Pat Kendall, said: "To move to the new premises would be a dream come true. We want to work with other organisations to develop projects and our core service of counselling, but we are not in the position to do that from where we are.

"It all seems pie in the sky at the moment because it has been going on for a while, but we have raised some money and have saved some of our own and now need about £140,000 for this to happen."

The current base is used by a team of volunteers and houses three desks, a photocopier, outdated computer equipment and other equipment.

It is hoped the new building, which the charity has already had re-roofed, will become a hub for helping youngsters in the town and surrounding area.

YCT - which helps 11-25 year-olds by offering counselling, anger management classes and a host of support groups in partnership with local agencies - already sees about 500 people a year and has a waiting list because it cannot cope with demand.

YCT co-founder Lady Diana Kemp-Welch said: "We need a new youth counselling centre to enable us to broaden and increase what we do. Early intervention is vital to breaking the intergenerational cycle of under-achievement and social breakdown."

A public event is being held tomorrow (Friday) at The Dashes Family Resource Centre, in Maddox Road, Harlow, from 1pm during which visitors will be able to hear about the refurbishment plans for the new counselling and support centre and pledge their support.

Redevelopment saves fire-hit historic house

A HISTORIC building has been removed from an 'at risk' register following restoration work.

Mulberry Green House, in Old Harlow, was one of thousands of conservation sites identified by English Heritage as being at risk of neglect or decay.

The Grade II listed building, which dates back to the 18th century, was ravaged by fire before developers Bermac Properties were given the go-ahead in 2006 to redevelop the site.

Now, following a major restoration project which has seen it sympathetically repaired and converted into houses and apartments, it has been taken off the annual register which is used to put pressure on local authorities to address the needs of conservation areas across the country.

Bermac managing director Andrew Temperton said: "It has been an interesting and sensitive restoration and redevelopment project, injecting a whole new lease of life into the original house and grounds."

Vigilance of staff helps PAH to cut cases of infection

INFECTION rates continue to fall at Harlow's Princess Alexandra Hospital even though more patients than ever are being treated.

Figures show the PAH NHS Trust ended the financial year as one of the best performing acute hospitals in the country for reducing hospital acquired bugs.

The trust exceeded Department of Health targets for the number of MRSA and Clostridium difficile cases during the year. There were seven cases of MRSA against a target figure of 12, and 38 cases of C.diff against a target of 107.

Dr Shico Visuvanathan, PAH consultant microbiologist and director of infection prevention and control, said: "We are very pleased with these figures which show us to be a top performing hospital nationally. We have introduced many new initiatives but most of the improvement is down to the hard work and vigilance of staff."

Chief executive Chris Pocklington added: "Only four years ago we recorded 44 MRSA cases and now we are in single figures. In many ways, the improvement in C.diff cases is even more dramatic as we recorded 315 cases two year ago and 122 cases last year."

● PRINCESS Alexandra Hospital is pressing ahead with measures to lower its carbon footprint.

Work has begun on replacing 1960s windows with double glazed units in the main ward block.

Hospital bosses say the work, which will cost £695,000, will create a better environment for patients as well as making it more environmentally friendly.

Solar panels, efficient boilers and an IT system which turns off at a pre-programmed time to reduce energy output have already been installed.

Designer chic for bargain hunters

THRIFTY fashionistas will soon have the perfect opportunity to earn some extra cash from the sale of their unwanted designer gear with the opening of a new store in Harlow.

One Tree Hill Clothing, in Bush Fair, is the brainchild of owner Sam Harper. It opens on Tuesday and will stock quality vintage, designer and labelled clothing and accessories at a fraction of their original retail prices.

"An American friend of mine who was moving home told me that she had sold most of her unwanted clothing through a similar store in Virginia," said Ms Harper.

"I thought this is just what we need at home, something of benefit to us all during a recession!

"Used clothes shops no longer should be a dumping ground for old fashioned disasters. We aim to make this a treasure trove of chic inexpensive finds."

Union holding a strike vote over fire service cuts

FIREFIGHTERS in Harlow will begin balloting for industrial action today (Thursday) unless Essex Fire Authority suspends plans to make cuts to frontline services.

The Fire Brigades Union has accused service chiefs of targeting crews rather than seeking efficiency savings elsewhere.

The FBU claims the proposed cuts would mean vital appliances such as aerial ladder platforms and rescue tenders will be left understaffed, resulting in a compromised emergency service.

Paul Adams, secretary of the Essex FBU, said: "We understand the need for the authority to make some efficiency savings but we are very disappointed it's frontline staff and services that will be sacrificed while the number of backroom staff and headquarters managers are growing."

"There is a real danger that frontline crews will be spread too thinly across the county."

Chief Fire Officer David Johnson has accused union officials of "totally irresponsible" behaviour. "All strike action will bring in financial hardship for our firefighters," he said.

"With the current pressures on spending, nothing is sacrosanct. The plain fact is we have got to find ways of using our existing resources to do more."

"There are tough times ahead and we are going to have to change some of the things that we have always done, particularly in relation to crewing arrangements, but this is being done in full consultation with all sectors of our workforce."

Hotel hell for family hit by kitchen flood

A FAMILY of three has been moved into temporary hotel accommodation after water poured through the kitchen ceiling of their council house.

Adrian Pavitt said he first reported damp issues to the council six months ago but claims he was continually fobbed off.

Now Mr Pavitt (34), his wife Lisa (36) and their 11-year-old son Jake are having to live in a tiny hotel room because of the problem at their home in Pennymead, Harlow.

"We have been treated really badly by the council," he told the Star. "We

By GRAEME BROWN
star@hertsessexnews.co.uk

did everything in our power to tell them there was a problem with our property but it is through their negligence and incompetence that we are having to go through this stress and upheaval.

"It is costing us a fortune in cab fares to get my son to and from school. His education is suffering because he is staying up late because we are all in one room and the hotel is next to a pub which is quite loud when people leave at night."

To make matters worse Mr Pavitt's mother-in-law recently died, leaving the family without a stable place to grieve.

He claims council workers told him the damp was condensation and was not a problem which needed fixing.

But the issue got progressively worse and resulted in water destroying the bathroom floor and gushing into the kitchen following a heavy down-pour.

The family was offered alternative permanent accommodation by the council but declined, stating that it was "10 times worse" than their current home.

The Pavitts have now contacted Harlow MP Bill Rammell who has written to the council to try to get the problem resolved.

"I have real sympathy for the Pavitt's situation and I am eager to do all I can to help," he said.

A spokeswoman for Harlow Council said the problem was first reported on May 21 and it has asked. Mr Pavitt to provide itemised telephone bills to prove it was reported before that.

She said the family was offered alternative accommodation and were fully aware the repairs would take some time but added it sympathised with their situation.

New garage block unveiled

A FORMER derelict garage block which has been transformed by a council-funded makeover has finally been unveiled to the public.

Councillors and members of the Moorfield Residents' Association were at the site for the official opening last Wednesday.

The block, which consisted of 146 garages and an underground parking area, has been demolished and replaced with 30 new garages and 38 parking spaces.

The work, which was competed in April, began last year after the site was earmarked by the council as one where parking arrangements could be improved.

Police try out a battery trike

WITH its bright colours and chunky wheels it may look like something out of an oversized Lego kit, but the T3 Motion electric tricycle could be the future of policing.

The electric trike is currently being tested by British police for possible use on patrol or in public order operations.

It has a top speed of 25mph and a raised nine-inch platform which gives the person riding it a clear view over the heads of crowds to spot troublemakers.

The plastic scooter is also good for the environment because it runs on rechargeable batteries and each vehicle will cost just a few pence per day to run.

A model with police-style blue and yellow badges was loaned to Sussex Police to use at the three-day South of England Show, where curious members of the public got their first glimpse of the strange trike.

Sergeant Paul Marsterson said the experiment had been a success.

"We tried to do a tour of the arena. However, people were so interested in it it took us 45 minutes to get a couple of hundred metres!" he said.

"The T3 gives high visibility and it's great to be able to talk to people you might not always reach."

The £5,000 vehicle, designed by a Californian firm, would be perfect for use in airports, he added.

Star pupils shine at awards night

Harlow Intergrated Support Service

Harlow Alternative Education

West Essex Secondary Behaviour Support Unit

THE achievements of scores of Harlow schoolchildren were celebrated at an annual awards ceremony held at The Playhouse.

A total of 80 students received Jack Petchey Achievement Awards from the guest of honour, Harlow MP Bill Rammell.

The ceremony brought together winners from the town's five secondary schools – Burnt Mill, St Mark's, Stewards, Passmores and Mark Hall – as well as Harlow Fields, Harlow College, Harlow Alternative education, Harlow Integrated Support Service and West Essex Secondary Behaviour Support Unit. They had been nominated by their peers and teachers in recognition of a variety of achievements including endeavour and citizenship.

Each received a medallion, a framed certificate and a cheque for £200 to spend on a school or community project of their choice.

Eight adults also received Leader Awards for demonstrating in an outstanding way an ability to encourage and motivate young people.

The awards were presented by the Jack Petchey Foundation, established in 1999

By LOUISE SASSOON
News Editor

sassoon@hertsessexnews.co.uk

by businessman and property developer Jack Petchey.

Mr Rammell said: "Jack Petchey, to his credit, and having achieved so much in his lifetime, now puts so much back to support youth in Essex and London.

"It's much harder growing up in Harlow now than it was in my day.

Congratulations to our youth in Harlow, you represent progress and success and you are the embodiment of youth here.

"You are a credit to teachers, staff, parents, and most importantly to yourselves. If you believe in yourself you will go far."

Harlow Council chairwoman Edna Stevens added: "These awards are great because they show how much our young people are achieving. I wish some of those denigrating letter writers would come along to one of these events. We have much to be proud of so let's rejoice in our youth."

Entertainment was provided by the Passmores School and Technology College steel band, Harlow College and St Mark's dance groups, and singers from Stewards School.

Genesis - the new name in Harlow's property services

HARLOW'S new name in estate agency, Genesis Property Services, is now open and ready to offer a fresh approach and unrivalled service for all property needs.

Having established itself as Harlow's trusted name and brand for mortgage advice over the past nine years and helping thousands move or remortgage, this same service ethos is being replicated by partners Colin Chapman and Richard Watkins in the new estate agency.

With an extensive client bank exclusive to Genesis, clients have access to thousands of potential buyers, importantly in these uncertain financial times, already pre-qualified to ensure your sale and potentially related purchase does not fall apart due to lack of a mortgage.

If you are considering selling or are already on the market but want a fresh approach to the marketing of your property, call us for a no obligation and informal chat. Genesis Property Services - finance and property under one roof.

Michelle takes a step in the write direction

By GRAEME BROWN
star@hertsessexnews.co.uk

THE internet's answer to the Booker Prize has unearthed a rising literary star from Harlow.

Michelle Keill (32), of Altham Grove, beat thousands of aspiring authors to win the coveted Book Of The Year award for her racy debut The Myth Of Supply And Demand on website YouWriteOn.com, an online forum where would-be writers rate and review each other's work.

A chicklit tale with a unique twist, the story is written from the perspective of emasculated thirty-something journalist John Black, who feels trapped in a world where women seemingly have the upper hand.

Deciding to re-assert his masculinity by leaving his girlfriend of nine years to pursue women in his office, hilarity and despair ensue in equal measure as he gradually realises he has made a huge error.

"It's about the role of men and women today. I'm sure anyone who works in an office would understand," Michelle told the Star.

"Some people think it's outrageous for me to write from a man's perspective but I've had really encouraging feedback from other users of the website."

Funded by the Arts Council, YouWriteOn.com was set up in 2006 and has a successful track record of propelling budding writers on to greater things.

Two previous winners have already been awarded lucrative publishing deals with Harper Collins and Penguin after developing their skills on the acclaimed website.

"It's really helpful for writers to get feedback from other people," Michelle added.

"Although I haven't secured a book deal yet, you just keep writing and hopefully you will achieve that ultimate goal."

Her gift for writing was spotted at a very young age while at school, where a teacher suggested she should consider becoming an author in the future.

"It's always been a dream of mine to be a published author," she added. Perhaps that dream is about to become true.

what's on in Harlow

MUSIC: Harlow Accordion Club presents a line-up of top musicians performing a selection of compositions from all over the world at The Link Social Club in Parsloe Road tonight (Thursday). Featuring acclaimed accordion virtuoso Pearl Fawcett-Adriano and versatile professional Eddie Jay, the concert starts at 7.30pm. Tickets priced £6 are available from (01279) 432830.

MUSIC: Local jazz supremo John Petters presents an evening of smokin' Dixieland swing at St John's ARC tonight (Thursday). Performing with John will be John Crocker, Alan Gresty, Dave Hewett, Paul Sealey and Keith Donald. The show starts at 8pm and tickets cost £10 from (0800) 496 0673.

DANCE: The annual youth and community dance showcase for the talented young members of Epping Forest Arts waltzes into The Playhouse tonight (Thursday). Guaranteed to be an explosion of energy and ideas, eNgage 09 will give a variety of groups from across the local area a chance to strut their stuff in front of an audience of hundreds. The show begins at 7.30pm and tickets cost £8 (£5 concessions) from (01279) 431945.

MUSIC: The New Edition Singers present an evening of songs from some of the best-loved films of all time at St John's ARC tomorrow (Friday) night. With tunes from Disney to Bond, there's sure to be something to suit every taste. The concert starts at 8pm and tickets cost £8 from (01279) 434028.

MUSIC: For those too old to have witnessed Jimi Hendrix's legendary performance at the Isle Of Wight festival way back in 1970, The Playhouse hosts the next best thing tomorrow (Friday) night when top tribute act Are You Experienced? rock into The Playhouse. Fronted by guitar virtuoso and Hendrix look-alike John Campbell, this is probably as close as most will ever get to experiencing one of the guitar hero's electrifying live performances. The gig starts at 8pm and tickets cost £17 from (01279) 431945.

MUSIC: British R&B sensation Junior Giscombe will be raising the roof at The Playhouse on Saturday evening with a storming set of greatest hits including worldwide smash Mama Used To Say and his much-loved duet with Kim Wilde, Another Step. The show will begin at 7.30pm and tickets cost £15 from (01279) 431945.

MUSIC: One of Essex's longest-established dance schools, The Buckhurst Hill and Woodford School of Dancing, has been running for 87 years now and makes a triumphant return to The Playhouse on Monday for a three-night run of its spectacular summer showcase. The show starts at 7pm on Monday and Tuesday and at 6.30pm on Wednesday. Tickets cost £12 (£10 concessions) from (01279) 431945.

Chorus to perform Requiem at director's festival swansong

HARLOW Chorus will pass the baton to a new musical director following its headline appearance at the annual Thaxted Festival next month.

Outgoing director Daniel Hyde's swansong will conduct the choir in a performance of Verdi's Requiem at Thaxted Church on July 12 before he takes up the director of music post at Magdalen College, Oxford.

Talented pianist and organist Alexander Chaplin will take over in September, bringing with him a wealth of experience working with amateur choruses and orchestras.

ALEXANDER CHAPLIN

Mr Chaplin, who sang as a chorister at Canterbury Cathedral and was educated at Chigwell School, held organ scholarships at Lincoln Cathedral and Lincoln College, Oxford, before graduating with distinction from the Royal College of Music. He went on to conduct the Oxford University Press Choir and North Herts Guild of Singers before becoming musical director at Wokingham Choral Society, where he currently works.

His first concert with Harlow Chorus will be at Waltham Abbey on Saturday, November 7.

● Tickets for the Thaxted Festival are available now from (01277) 362440 and (01371) 831421, priced between £16 (£13 concessions) and £26.

YEAR ONE certificate 12A / 1h36m

THIS ramshackle road movie through the Paleolithic age stars two of the most gifted comic actors of their generations – Jack Black and Michael Cera, pictured above – and yet laughs are hard to come by.

Black is an unstoppable force of nature who brought his nervous energy to light up High Fidelity, School Of Rock and Kung Fu Panda while Cera adopts a more laidback, laconic delivery that perfectly suited Juno and Nick & Nora's Infinite Playlist.

But put them side-by-side in Year One as hunter-gatherers with a nose for adventure and the results are painful.

Pelt-clad primitives Zed (Black) and Oh (Cera) are incompetent and lazy, and don't pull their weight like the other men in their village.

Zed, who's having no success in wooing alpha female Maya, cannot master his bow and arrow, and is a woeful hunter while Oh fails to fulfil his duties as a gatherer. Nor can he turn the head of the object of his affections, Zed's sister Eema.

Inevitably, the friends are banished from the tribe and embark on a quest of self-discovery through an ancient world riddled with danger. En route, the misfits encounter wondrous creations such as the wheel and colourful characters including feuding brothers Cain (David Cross) and Abel (Paul Rudd), and circumcision-obsessed father Abraham and his son Isaac.

Zed and Oh unexpectedly find courage and determination in the face of adversity, arriving in Sodom where the flamboyant high priest threatens to sacrifice Maya and Eema to the gods. Thankfully, the buddies orchestrate a daring rescue mission, but first they must outwit the captain of the guards. Producer extraordinaire Judd Apatow's recent winning streak, which includes The 40 Year Old Virgin, Knocked Up, Superbad and Forgetting Sarah Marshall, comes to an inglorious end with Year One.

Foolishly, the script begins at the dawn of mankind and merrily incorporates Biblical references which beg unfavourable comparisons with The Life Of Brian. Monty Python's film may be 30 years old but it boasts more chuckles and guffaws in the opening five minutes than Year One can muster in its lifeless entirety.

A selection of out-takes, which play out over the end credits, should have remained on the cutting-room floor.

Battling bots back for more carnage

TRANSFORMERS: REVENGE OF THE FALLEN certificate 12A / 2h07m

THE robots in disguise continue their age-old feud in the eagerly-awaited sequel to one of the biggest box office hits of 2007.

It pushes the visual effects envelope with more outrageous slam-bang thrills and skirmishes between the noble Autobots and their sworn enemies, the Decepticons.

Two years have passed since high school student Sam Witwicky (Shia LaBeouf) and his Autobot friends defeated power-hungry Megatron.

In the intervening period, humankind has forged an alliance with Autobot leader Optimus Prime (voiced by Peter Cullen) to create a top-secret military division known as NEST, which hunts down the last remaining Decepticons. But as Sam prepares for his first year at college he experiences powerful visions of hieroglyphs, and as these hallucinations become more intense the young man senses that Optimus Prime has been keeping secrets from him. Sure enough, the Decepticons are preparing to return to Earth in even greater numbers to fulfil an ancient prophecy.

Transformers: Revenge Of The Fallen overstays its welcome by at least 30 minutes with a middle section that sags badly. Director Michael Bay orchestrates action sequences with customary aplomb and lack of subtlety, employing slow motion ad nauseum as American pluck once again rescues humanity from annihilation.

still showing

THE HANGOVER:

Three best men misplace the groom during an alcohol-fuelled stag weekend in Las Vegas. The gags predominantly miss rather than hit, but the rapport between the leads ensures at least one or two belly laughs.

TERMINATOR

SALVATION: Man battles the machines once again in an all-guns-blazing reboot of the Terminator series, which sows the seeds of a new trilogy charting John Connor's rise to leader of the Resistance in the aftermath of Judgment Day.

DRAG ME TO HELL:

After record-breaking box-office success with Spider-Man and its sequels, director Sam Raimi returns to horror – the genre which made his name – with this tongue-in-cheek battle for a young woman's soul.

NIGHT AT THE

MUSEUM 2: Ben Stiller and Ricky Gervais return in the sequel to the 2006 family blockbuster. This time the story switches to the largest museum complex in the world, the Smithsonian Institute in Washington DC, where revived pharaoh Kahmunrah aims to take over the world.

previews (Wednesday/Thursday)

ICE AGE 3 - DAWN OF THE DINOSAURS:

Sid the sloth yearns for a family of his own so he 'appropriates' a nest of soon-to-hatch dinosaur eggs. Meanwhile, his loyal friends Manny the woolly mammoth and Diego the sabre-toothed tiger embark on a perilous rescue mission.

PUBLIC ENEMIES:

Director Michael Mann surveys a volatile period in US history in this slow-burning crime thriller starring Johnny Depp as a major Depression-era celebrity and folk hero to the public as he outwits J. Edgar Hoover's fledgling Federal Bureau of Investigation.

kids club

BOLT (2D):

Man's best friend learns to stand on his own four paws in this computer animated comedy which pokes fun at obsession with celebrity.

CARS: Disney favourite in which a hot-shot racing car named Lightning McQueen gets waylaid in Radiator Springs where he finds the true meaning of friendship and family.

BEDTIME STORIES:

A hotel handyman gradually begins to realise that the imaginative bedtime stories he tells his niece and nephew are somehow beginning to manifest themselves in the real world.

Sagittarius Nov 23-Dec 21

You can be very persuasive this week, but will this see you getting others to do your bidding, instead of taking this on yourself? Fortunately, a generous link between Mercury and your ruler Jupiter gives you a wonderful chance to straighten things out. Socially, a new group of friends who have proved attractive recently can suddenly seem less cool after all. Call your prediction line for more advice...

Cancer Jun 22-Jul 23

Mercury is gathering pace and this can see a behind the scenes plan shape up nicely. Yet a friend can prove to be unreliable, saying that they will pitch in and then letting you down - especially if cash or time are concerned. Not a good week to loan a valuable possession or favourite CD or computer game. Unfortunately, you may never get it back out? Call me now for your news and astral advice...

Capricorn Dec 22-Jan 20

A youngster may need a guiding hand. It's not that you don't want to let them experience life or make their own mistakes, but they may need a firmer framework. How you get it right it can really help them. You may find yourself battling with a lure to spend cash freely or be really sensible. Which will win Cancer. Call me now for your financial forecast in full...

Leo Jul 24-Aug 23

The Quarter Moon suggests someone can withhold important information. Their motivation can be linked to holding a power over you. This can leave you isolated. In an extreme case a friendship can come to an end. But there is usually a reason with for such things, even if it is hard to see this at the time. The bigger picture will become clear in the next week. Call me now for your in-depth forecast...

Aquarius Jan 21-Feb 19

Generally the accent is on being sensible and virtuous. OK, doesn't sound much fun does it, but a sparkling planetary ray shines between Mercury and Jupiter absolutely wow someone there is the sheer force of your personality. However, the tug of doing the things time. You know you should be doing can make it hard to truly unwind. Call your special prediction line for more...

Virgo Aug 24-Sept 23

Some friends may push you to make a final decision on a group holiday. If you're not quite sure this is the right trip, wait until the week's end, and then it will get much easier way. Yet you might need to to make up your mind. Don't head off other anxious feel that you can't say you're thoughts, which can drift up not sure. Dramatic inky black and crisp white is a combination that guarantees a real wow factor, elegant and enduring yet transcending period and price.

A look as simple as black and white can't be that hard to master can it? Not if you establish some ground rules first.

Black and white can be the overall theme or just a dramatic accent. The trick is to keep it simple and sleek using texture, pattern or layering to add detail.

To add some instant sitting room drama go for the high-backed Marco sofa in comfy black leather. Or for an ultra modern dining room opt for the sleek glass-topped table and funky chairs of the Monaco collection.

Don't be afraid to mix dramatic white furniture with black pieces such as the Mountain shelving unit - practical - and a real style statement!

And why not head into Fishpools' accessories department for statement pieces to add to the visual impact?

Give it a go . . . visit Fishpools to see how black and white could work in your home.

The return of Godzilla

TUCKED away among the beet fields of Hokkaido, Japan's north island, is a tiny piece of Germany. Signs point to Koblenz and there are perfect replicas of autobahn rest stops. The road surface is Germanic, and if you wait a while you might hear the keening roar of a turbocharged Porsche 911 flying past at three miles a minute. Think of that as bait for what Nissan has straining at the leash in a nondescript lock-up garage. To understand the significance of Nissan's GT-R, a little historical perspective is required. The GT-R badge can be traced back to 1969, when it appeared on the squared-off rump of a Skyline powered by a 24-valve 2.0-litre straight-six. Fully 20 years would elapse before the Skyline GT-R legend would be realised. The Skyline R32 GT-R was a breath-taking achievement, the first Japanese supercar. With computer-controlled all-wheel-drive and four-wheel steering, a 2.6-litre straight-six with twin ceramic turbochargers and 276 horsepower, it created a template that lives on today. The Japanese media dubbed the car Obakemono-monster, but a more charismatic nickname came from Australia, where news of its unprecedented racing success saw it christened 'Godzilla'. The Skyline GT-R got bigger and heavier in R33 (1995) and R34 (1999) guises, but it's back, albeit with the Skyline badge deleted. The

Will it fit in your garage?	length 4.65m/width 1.895m/height 1.37m

Nissan GT-R hasn't just evolved. Like the scaly dinosaur that grew from a post-atomic Japan, this Godzilla has radically mutated. For years Nissan paid lip service to the Japanese 'gentleman's agreement' that limited its cars to 276bhp. With the GT-R, this agreement has been torn up, shredded and burnt, the 3.8-litre V6 churning out 485PS, enough to power the car to 60mph in 3.5 sec and on to a top speed of 194mph. Twin turbos are built into the exhaust manifold, the engine is set back behind the front axle line for better weight distribution and it even boasts a four-wheel-drive, double clutch transaxle. And carbon fibre propshafts. Even the ATESSA E-TS all-wheel-drive system is now sharper and faster. The GT-R is an astonishing piece of engineering. The attention to detail is stunning. The dashboard display has been designed by Polyphony, the people who brought us the Gran Turismo PlayStation games, and displays g-force, drive distribution, speed, braking and acceleration pressure and turbo boost among many other functions. The drag coefficient is 0.27, which is virtually as slippery as a Toyota Prius. Weight distribution is a perfect 50:50, helped by the transaxle set-up to separate the weights of engine and gearbox/differential. The twin-clutch paddle-shift gearbox shifts incredibly quickly and throttle blips on downchanges. The brakes will stop the GT-R from 100kmph in 36.9m. In Japan's type approval tests, no car before the GT-R had ever stopped in less than 40m. Downsides? Well, the car is hardly what you'd call pretty, with that quinty face and broken back roofline. Weight has crept up to 1,740kg and Nissan's electronics gurus have created what they think is a tamper-proof ECU to dissuade aftermarket tuning. A decent-size boot and rear seats that will hold a couple of kids make the GT-R halfway practical, too. As for the interior, the leather is well finished, the dash hangs together quite well and there are even some interior switches that look as if they've been lifted from an Audi R8. The contra-rotating speedometer and rev counter dials take a bit of getting used to, but one suspects Nissan has spent the money on the bits that really matter.

The GT-R formula has traditionally been using complex engineering to make rapid driving easy, and as radical as the current GT-R appears, it does not divert from that philosophy one jot.

Badge snobs may deride it as a hopped-up Nissan or reject it as an adolescent fantasy, but the GT-R presents a very real challenge to the Porsche 911, BMW M6 and even the Audi R8. The fascinating thing about a car that carries this weight of history is that the GT-R has always been about what it can do, rather than what it represents, and this 485PS car does incredible things.

A well finished coupe that can do 0-60 in 3.5s and run onto 194mph is always going to grab the attention, especially when priced at under £60,000. Germany has its Porsche 911, the US has the Corvette. In the GT-R, Japan has its own performance legend.

End of the road for your vehicle?

Responsible drivers scrap their vehicles at an Authorised Treatment Facility (ATF).

Because only an ATF can legally scrap a vehicle. That means any pollutants will be made safe before it's recycled in an environmentally friendly way.

What's more, for certain types of vehicle you'll get a DVLA approved Certificate of Destruction (CoD). A CoD proves that the ATF has told DVLA your vehicle has been scrapped and so is no longer your responsibility. www.direct.gov.uk/motoring

End of the road? Get over it and move on with your local ATF:

B & T Motor Salvage

We offer free collection, on the same day if necessary, using our own recovery vehicles and issue a Certificate of Destruction from the Department of Vehicle Licensing Authority via our direct link to their website. Payment per vehicle negotiable.

HAWKS DEFENDER MADE EX-ARSENAL FAVOURITE EAT HIS WORDS

DAVID RIMMER meets ex-Harlow Town ace Ray Wickenden

FORMER Arsenal legend John Radford was made to eat his words as defender Ray Wickenden made a name for himself by starring in a second FA Cup in the space of a few seasons that grabbed national headlines.

The 52-year-old former right-back had switched to Bishop's Stortford in the summer of 1982 after becoming a firm favourite at Harlow Town and playing against Gary Lineker's Leicester City side in 1980.

Radford was Blues coach at the time, working alongside manager Trevor Harvey.

Wickenden, who works as an electrician and still lives in Harlow, said: "I remember we played Hertford in a pre-season friendly and their winger got past me a few times. John Radford said I was rubbish and asked why had the club signed me.

"It made me want to prove him wrong and it was pleasing to get a player of the season award from him later on."

"If you stood up to John he would listen and respect you. He was a man's man."

Wickenden is one of those players lucky enough to have been involved in two significant FA Cup runs with Non-League clubs.

Three seasons earlier, he had been part of the Harlow team that conquered Lineker's Leicester City before they were beaten by Watford.

The two Cup runs were very different for Wickenden, but the father of four is humble about his role in both these rival clubs.

"It was just a coincidence. I would never go and mention it to anybody now," he said.

"With Harlow it was seen more as a one-off at the time and camera crews were round us all the time," he said. "With Harlow we travelled on the day to Leicester. But with Stortford the difference was the trip to Middlesbrough.

"I took more of it in the second time. I was that bit older."

By his own admission, Wickenden was a strong tackler and passer of the ball as a player. He was also a key attacking option with his runs down the flank and crosses.

He jumped at the chance to sign for Stortford back in 1982. "I felt as I had gone as far as I could at Harlow. I needed a new challenge and that is why I went to Stortford.

"When you have 500 or 600 in the ground you have the chance of building a decent side."

POINT TO PROVE: Ray Wickenden speaks to sports reporter David Rimmer (F44339VL_09). Below, John Radford

FACTfile

Ray Wickenden

Age: 52

Clubs: Harlow Town 1973-1982; Bishop's Stortford 1982-1987 (227 appearances).

Position: Right-back.

Player-coach – Bishop's Stortford 1987-88.

Assistant manager – Bishop's Stortford 1991-92 and 1994-95.

First team coach/assistant manager/caretaker manager – Bishop's Stortford 1995-6 and 1997-98.

Manager - Stansted 1988-91.

Playing honours (at Bishop's Stortford): Herts Senior Cup winner 1986-87; Herts Charity Cup winner 1982-83 and 1984-85; Eastern Floodlight Cup winner 1984-85; East Anglian Cup 1982-83; FA Cup 3rd round 1982-83; FA Cup 1st round 1984-85, 1985-86, 1986-87.

'I'm Gunner prove you wrong, Radford'

"Harlow did not have the stability to go on and Stortford did have the potential to get to the Conference."

Wickenden enjoyed a short time as manager at Stansted before returning to Stortford. He was a coach and briefly caretaker boss after Dave Edwards quit as manager.

Wickenden, who now coaches young footballers at Mark Hall Youth FC in Harlow, left Rhodes Avenue in 1997 with a slightly sour taste in the mouth after failing to get the top job. "I did not get an interview for the job. Apparently the new manager [Paul Taylor] wanted me as a coach. I later realised I was more a coach than a manager but Stortford are still the first result I look out for [in Non-League]."

Wickenden trained with QPR and Southend before he was 16. He did not have the ability to make it into the professional game but has happy memories of his career in Non-League. "Once you get a bit of a grounding from a pro club you can earn a bit of a living in Non-League football. The thing is to find your level and go out and enjoy it."

It was just a few months after joining Stortford in 1982 that Wickenden was playing against the likes of Middlesbrough and Reading as Stortford burst onto the national stage with their greatest FA Cup run. Triumphs over Slough and Reading preceded a third round tie at Boro in January 1983, managed by the flamboyant Malcolm Allison – he of the cigars and fedora hats.

Ayresome Park may have been knocked down now, but much of Stortford's game in the North East and the pre-match build-up stick in Wickenden's mind.

"We did not see much of Middlesbrough itself. I remember the comedian Chubby Brown was appearing in the hotel we were in. We had a curfew of 10pm but Radders [Radford] let us go and see him. That sticks in my mind," he said.

He added: "I remember we were 2-0 down at half-time in the first game. Radders was very cross with me after their second goal – I chested the ball down and our 'keeper [Alex Welch] did not come in and their bloke nipped in to score. It was quite daunting with Malcolm Allison and his cigar but he came into our dressing room twice and wished us good luck.

"I did not think in our hearts we thought we could win the replay [at Stortford's old ground at Rhodes Avenue]. There was so much sand on the pitch but their extra fitness worked in their favour."

The image of Blues striker Lyndon Lynch – a Marvin Hagler lookalike – will always be synonymous with the Cup run. Due to his striking looks the national media circus made a beeline for Lynch.

But Wickenden felt midfielders and defenders played a more crucial role.

"The Stortford fans did not like him [Lynch] but Roger Avery was really liked by the players. He was always available for you. Ian Smith did not score many goals but he was a very good tackler," he said.

"Keith Eley was a man mountain. He took no prisoners and for a centre-half of that time he could play great football. When you had these three in the team, you knew you had a chance."

"Trevor Harvey was the nicest man I ever met in Non-League football. He had a lot of coaching badges and knew what he was doing.

"He never raised his voice and was always immaculately dressed. You would never have thought he and Radders would get on but they did."

A Ballard bing as jinx continues

THERE was no end to the 35-year jinx for Sawbridgeworth as they lost a close tussle at neighbours Bishop's Stortford. Sawbridgeworth last won a league fixture at Cricketfield Lane back in 1974.

And that dire run continued on Saturday when Stortford won by four wickets.

An outstanding knock from the Sawbridgeworth 145, Bishop's Stortford 146-6

Stortford won by four wickets HCPL division two east highly-rated Ed Ballard (68 not out), combined with superb all-round play from veteran Ruari Premadasa (4-35) and 19 not out) were key factors in the hosts' triumph.

Sawbo batted first and skipper and key batsman Danny Wilson was bowled by Premadasa for 0. He also bowled Will Jones for 22 to leave the visitors on 34-2.

The match swung decisively Stortford's way when Dean Chisnall was controversially adjudged caught behind by Ballard for 18 off Premadasa, who also bowled the dangerous

Michael Burrell for a duck.

Ryan Cunningham hit a breezezy 18 but the visitors were bowled out for 145 in their final over. In reply, Stortford skipper David Hughes was given lbw to Burrell for 6.

Wickets fell but Ballard played solidly and he added a crucial 45 with Steve Coleman.

Burrell brought Sawbo back into it, bowling Coleman (17) and Simon Lindop (3). At this stage Stortford were 119-6 and vulnerable with a weak tail.

Premadasa, who survived a dropped chance and a strong lbw appeal, then guided Stortford home alongside the classy Ballard.

Burrell finished with 4-64 – but could have taken more wickets.

Skipper fumes as Harlow are thrashed

Rohan Bhome was dropped in the gully area before ex-Harlow player Haroon Khan was pounced at extra cover by James Butler.

The visitors failed to capitalise on a tight start that had seen them only concede 65 runs in the first 20 overs.

Hill batters Ian Russell and Bhome played positively, completing excellent fifties before the latter was run out with a direct hit from cover by the Harlow captain.

Russell pushed on with Josh Peters who also eased to his 50 after being the beneficiary of some very generous Harlow misfields and dropped catches.

Russell finished on 84 not out and Buckhurst Hill totalled 263-2 on a pitch that wasn't getting any easier.

Harlow started with the bat as they finished with the ball, and only Waqas Akhtar (34) had any impact as the visitors collapsed to 133 all out.

The innings closed in freakish fashion as young wicket-keeper Nino Calvino drove a ball onto the foot of silly mid off only for it to rebound to cover for a simple catch.

Chief destroyer for the home side was the experienced Jeremy Mordrick. He bowled superbly for an economical five-wicket haul, ensuring the 20 points went to Buckhurst Hill.

Butler added: "Last year we got on a losing streak after winning six on the trot and we cannot afford to let that happen this season with the league being so tight.

"The good news is that we are still third in a very tight table."

Indian overseas star Abhi Jhunjhunwala will miss Saturday's home match against Billericay as he has been called up for a Rajasthan Royals training camp in India as he prepares to face Middlesex at Lords on July 5.

Loughton too good in 20/20 Cup tie

HARLOW (165) lost to Loughton (220) in an Essex League 20/20 Cup match last Wednesday.

Waqas Akhtar claimed five wickets with his off spin, including a last over hat-trick and then compiled a top drawer 65 with the willow.

Dan Stopp and Ryan Melaugh bowled well while young Conor Ramsay produced an unbeaten knock with the bat.

In the Shepherd Neame Essex League, Harlow's 2nd XI (224-8) lost to Loughton IIs (228-3) by seven wickets.

Ryan Jersey took 3-61, while Iain Nuttall finished on an unbeaten 82.

The third XI lost at Wanstead IV (291-5d). Harlow posted 269-7 in a brave effort which saw Alan Burton top score with 70.

The fourth team lost to Ilford (214-7).

Billy Falconer (3-43) and Luke Krzaska (3-24) shone with the ball, while Nicky Baxter top scored with 82 as Harlow just fell short when they were dismissed for 207.

It's win or bust for Osagie

His fastest time this season is 1:48.16 but he simply must rise to the occasion and take his time down to 1:47.

Winrow said: "He is doing alright. The big plus is that he has completed an indoor and outdoor season. He has really struggled with injuries over the last couple of years. He is still unable to train as much as I would like him to."

The European U-23 Championships start in Lithuania on July 16.

"The U-23 Championships are a huge stepping stone for the seniors," explained Winrow.

Off the track, Osagie has deferred his graduation until next year which has allowed him to spend another 12 months using the fantastic facilities at St Mary's University in London where he is studying.

Squash team secures first summer win

FIRST string David Gear got Harlow Squash Club's first team off to a tremendous start as they recorded their first win of the summer in division three of the Herts Squash League.

At home to Bishop's Stortford-based Chantry, Gear was too strong for his opponent and enjoyed a straight sets victory 15-8, 15-8, 15-9.

Second string Vinh Tram, who had played for the second team the previous day, also enjoyed a straight sets victory but had to work harder for his 15-13, 15-10, 15-12 win.

Third string Terry Taylor won a close fought first set 15-13 but was then outplayed in the next two 6-15, 8-15. In a tense fourth set Taylor just lost out 12-15 and suffered a 3-1 loss but on the night but Harlow triumphed 2-1 overall.

Harlow's second team hosted second-placed Gosling of Welwyn Garden City and suffered a 3-0 defeat in division four.

First string Vinh Tram lost the first two sets 11-15, 7-15 but fought back to win the third 15-11. The fourth set was a close run affair but Vinh just lost out 13-15.

Second string Peter Iszatt was beaten in straight sets 13-15, 12-15, 11-15.

Third string Rob Coghlan lost narrowly in straight sets 13-15, 13-15, 13-15.

Cream of the South success

TWO Harlow athletes competed at the South of England Senior and Junior Athletics Championships at Watford.

Kirsty McIntosh (21) and Billy Falconer (16), pictured below, starred against tough opposition. Kirsty continued her comeback from injury in the senior women's pole vault with a fine fifth place, equalling her season's best 3.30 metres.

Athletics

Passmore School student Billy was asked by his coach Carol Jackson to compete in the U-20 men's high jump and after clearing 1.95m in the warm-up he placed 7th with 1.90m.

Epping's Kathrine Foy made the final of the junior women's 800m, placing 8th in 2 mins 18 secs after a heat of 2:16 the previous day.

Joining the contingent was Harlow-born Sam Watts, who was fifth in the 200m final in 22.1s after earlier running 21.9s. The former Leventhorpe School student, who lives in Bishop's Stortford, has secured a place in the Great Britain squad for the World U-18 Championships in Italy next month.

Ten Harlow-based athletes competed for Woodford Green Athletics Club at Bromley in the Southern premier division of the Young Athletes League.

Stewards School student Daniel Yaxley won the 3,000m (U-17 boys) in 9:47 and then triumphed in the 1,500m steeplechase in 4:58.

Prior to this season Amy Larkin (Mark Hall) had not thrown the hammer over 20 metres.

But she smashed her personal best (PB) with 30.18m. This was a massive improvement and enough to win the U-17 girls hammer.

St Mark's School student Brian Kinuthia (12) was another to take gold.

The Essex Schools Championships bronze medalist won the high jump comfortably with 1.38m in the U-13 boys competition.

Tom Richards (Mark Hall) claimed gold in the U-17 boys javelin with 47.26m. Amelia Barrett (Burnt Mill) won the U-13 girls B string 1,200m with a PB of 4:12.

Training partner Lauren Freeman (Passmore) also took another chunk off her 1,500m PB with 5:43 to place third in the B string.

Lewis Chalk was second in the U-13 boys 1,500m in a PB of 5:21 and Ryan Dunne was second in the B string 1,500m, just outside his PB with 4:51.

Burnt Mill School student Sophie Fuhr gained second in the U-17 girls 300m hurdles in 48.9s and then placed third in the 100m with a PB of 13.5s.

Sophie is now coached by former Olympian competitor Gladys Bird.

Tom Larkin (Mark Hall) was third in the U-17 boys 400m with 52.7s.

Woodford were third in the match.

Luke sparkles in Rockets' Diamonds rout

IT proved a very long night on the longest day of the year for visitors Newcastle Diamonds as they were cut to pieces by a rampant Rye House Rockets side.

Once again Harlow's Luke Bowen provided the backbone of the scoring for the Hoddesdon speedway team with another super haul of 12 points from his five rides.

Bowen dropped just a single point in five starts, although his best ride was possibly the one that got away.

The Harlow racer chased down Kenni Larsen over four laps in Heat 11, and although he was unable to find a way past the Dane, the determination and effort he showed epitomises the excellent season he is enjoying in the reserve berth.

Rockets skipper Chris Neath praised Bowen. He said: "Luke showed again how this is his big breakthrough year.

"He is riding really well at the moment, and he's full of confidence.

"Maybe it's taken him a couple of years sub-consciously to get back to the level he was driving toward before he had a couple of nasty injuries, but he's hitting some massive form now."

This was another solid team show from the Rockets who rattled up 12 of the 15 race wins, with no less than seven 5-1 advantages to soar past the 60-point mark for the third time this season.

Guest Jason Lyons was the star of the show with a maximum haul in his five rides, displaying his experience and track skills.

The former double overseas champion led from the front, helping to shepherd his partner Tommy Allen home to a 5-1 with expert team riding.

He also produced two tremendous passes from the back. The first came in Heat 13, when Lyons somehow found the narrowest of gaps to squeeze outside the exciting Larsen coming off the fourth bend; the second when a similar manoeuvre in the same patch of track saw him past the same opposition in the nominated heat.

Rye House scorers: Jason Lyons (guest) 14+1 (from five rides); T Allen 7 (5); C Neath 11+2 (5); L Sundstrom 7+3 (5); L Bowen 12+2 (5); A Silver 10+2 (5).

● JASON Lyons is set to make one final guest appearance for the Rockets as cover for the injured Robert Mear.

The former Grand Prix star will don a Rye race jacket for the home Premier League fixture against Glasgow this Sunday (2pm start).

Head coach pays tribute to Penguins

Swimming

HEAD coach Carmen Byfield praised her Harlow Penguins after a series of top performances and personal best times at the 'Killerwhales' open swimming gala.

The club took 17 swimmers to Thurrock for the meeting last Sunday.

"All the swimmers performed really well on the day and I was very impressed with their times. They have been working very hard in training and are very focused and positive, which I hope will continue," said Byfield.

Luke Guerrati and Emily Poolman took 10 seconds off their best times.

New to competition were Mitchell Hicks, Joshua Beach, Samuel and Simon Kolarik, Luke Withers, Dana Pittman and Filip Kusnir who came 6th in the 50m backstroke.

Other swimmers who came away with medals were: Jasmine Hind (5th in the 50m butterfly and 50m freestyle), Luke Guerrati (4th in 100m breaststroke, 6th 100m freestyle and 100m butterfly), Bradley Veitch (5th in 50m breaststroke), Mason Arnold (4th in 50m freestyle), Georgia Andrew (3rd in the 100m breaststroke), Amy Sears (4th in the 100m freestyle).

Tia Brown, Magnus Koskocan, Danny, Joel Chan also produced excellent swims.

Steady progress a Major advantage

Welcome to Inside Track, our column that gives you the reader an insight into Harlow Greyhound Stadium as our top tipster reveals his favourites for tomorrow (Friday June 26).

STEADY Major defends an unbeaten record at Harlow Stadium tomorrow night and it would be a brave man to oppose him now that he's back at his favourite track.

Despite a couple of defeats while on his travels, Major returns in decent form and should be able to lead throughout.

HILLCROSS SOPHIA finishes her races strongly and can chase the selection home.

The Tommy Wade trained LIOGARBH WELL is better known for his exploits over the stayers distance but finds himself in a very winable four-bend race. He will be nearer last than first during the early stages of the race but supporters shouldn't be alarmed as he will be going twice as fast as his opponents from the third bend.

If all goes to plan he can nail the likely pacemaker RATHCREA MAX at the death.

Friday June 26 selections:

7.30pm Vital Time; 7.45pm Micks Gypsy;
8pm You Little Rascal; 8.15pm Ardmayle Lass;
8.30pm Liosgarbh Well; 8.45pm Hasicometothis;
9pm Ronnies Luvvie; 9.15pm Vigorous Amy;
9.30pm Shaws Kyut; 9.45pm Accordion Magic;
10pm Vatican Banshee; 10.15pm Steady Major.

Key win ahead of crucial spell

A MAGNIFICENT unbeaten 136 from Jason Gladwin and a seven-wicket salvo from Dan Calver secured an eighth successive victory for runaway division leaders Harlow Town in the Herts & Essex Cricket League.

High Beach were no match for Vic Goddard's men on Saturday.

Town need the win as they face third-placed Dunmow II and second-placed Theydon Bois in a crucial period over the next nine days.

It was Gladwin's highest knock in his league career but the opener was more focused on Town's crucial next two games. He said: "These are two big games and if we win those we'll have a really good chance of going up."

Town were inserted and struggled early on to deal with the swinging new ball and lost Pat Yates for just 14.

The arrival of Ramaya Upadhyay to the crease immediately upped the run rate as he and Gladwin, who returned to the club this year after a two-year spell at Birchanger, put on 164 runs for the second wicket.

Upadhyay was eventually out for 67 after being caught well in the deep but Gladwin continued his innings, eventually reaching his 100 in 118 balls.

Gladwin and Shiraz Ali (22) put on 65 for the third wicket as Town scored 274 off their 45 overs.

Gladwin's top knock included 13 fours and three sixes. "It's been coming for a little while. I just kept getting out and not going on to get the big score," he said.

High Beach looked to score quickly in reply but came unstuck with Calver destroying their top order.

He eventually finished with 7 wickets for 31 as any loose batting was punished. "Dan bowled well - excellent line and length. They could not cope with him," said Gladwin.

Marc Lowers claimed two wickets himself as High Beach were bowled out for only 108 to hand Town another 26 points in their quest for promotion.

Gladwin had no hesitation in returning to Ash Tree Field this season. "I had been at Harlow for most of my career. I felt it was a good opportunity to improve on a good side and be that extra link to get up to division one.

"It's been a very good season. We have improved our batting. The bowling was always good. Every time you play these games sides are expecting a third or fourth change bowler to be the weakest link. But there is no weakest link."

Harlow Town IIs also claimed another win with a four-wicket success over Braughing.

Experienced campaigners Paul Smith (51 not out) and Brain Lall (59) took Town home as they chased 191 for the win.

Completing a memorable weekend for the Elizabeth Way club, Harlow Town IIs made it eight wins from eight in division seven.

They enjoyed a comfortable 93-run win over Nazeing Common IIs.

Kevin Tilleard hit 109 with the bat and was supported well by Jack Elston (69).

In division three, Potter Street (249-3) beat Matching Green (210-9) by 39 runs.

Running club joy in Midweek home race

HOME territory was made to count as Harlow Running Club produced a strong performance at the third Sweatshop Midweek Road Race League meeting.

Harlow's former Paralympian Noel Thatcher was second overall on the 10km course in a brilliant time of 34 mins 32 secs - just 14 seconds behind the winner.

The men's team put in a fantastic performance to finish in first place out of seven teams.

Thatcher contributed most points, closely followed by Jared Bethell and Justin Revell in 6th and 7th places respectively.

John Tennant and Roy Steven were 1st and 2nd veteran 50 finishers, helping Harlow Vets team to 3rd place.

The women's team also ran well for 3rd place and only missed out on second by the narrowest of margins.

Harlow's top lady was Dionne Jones who finished in a superb 2nd place and 1st vet 35 in 43:16.

She was followed home by Vicky Steadman in 8th place and Bel Waters in 13th place.

There were personal best times for Jamie Jephcott, Adrian Fell, Dougie Gray, Roger Forlan, Dionne Jones and Joanne Chung.

Results: Noel Thatcher 2nd 34:32; Jared Bethell 6th 36:23; Justin Revell 7th 36:27; Sven Meinen 14th 38:04; Steve Mackenzie 20th 38:40; John Tennant 22nd; 39:00 1st vet 50; Roy Steven 23rd 39:16 2nd vet 50; Julian Tampling 27th 39:38; Jamie Jephcott 33rd 40:04 PB; Lee Daniel 36th 40:20; Jon Steadman 39th 40:41; Andy Terrell 43rd 41:18; Jason Haigh 52nd 41:59; John Bul 58th 42:51; Adrian Fell 59th 42:57 PB; David Croly 66th 43:25; Graham Thomas 71st 43:31; Dougie Gray 79th 44:10 PB; David Ayling 95th 45:53; Roger Forlan 105th 46:52 PB; Derek Seymour 141st 59:18; Vicky Steadman 8th 45:33; Bel Waters 13th 47:19; Katie Herrington 16th 47:56; Joanne Chung 37th 51:56 PB; Clare Williams 39th 52:41; Anne Kleijwegt 40th 53:11; Linda Selby 43rd 53:31; Linda Hawkins 68th 58:51; Denise Goodchild 69th 59:15.

Beehan bags a Grand victory

Angling

SIXTEEN members of Stort Valley Angling Society travelled to the Grand Union Canal at Berkhamsted for their latest outing.

Using pole-fished pellets, the Harlow club's match secretary Steve Beehan was victorious with an excellent bream/skimmer bag weighing in at 21lbs 6ozs.

Steve Turnbull was second with just under 17lbs while Bobby Groom netted exactly 8lbs for third. With a creditable 4lbs 1oz Ryan Head was top junior.

Just over 87lbs was brought to the bank by those present.

Eighteen members battled for the Netteswell Pond Cup on a very warm clear day and with the water also clear and shallow this made tempting fish difficult, with most decent fish caught early on in the day.

Danny Cruse, using pole-fished pellet and corn, lifted the trophy with a weight of 7lbs 14ozs.

Kevin Shaw filled second place with 5lbs 1oz just 3oz ahead of Steve Beehan who was third.

A weight of just over 3lbs saw Ben Heywood snatch the junior trophy.

Harlow hosts trials for Commonwealth

A HARLOW indoor bowls club has been chosen to host the trials for the 2010 Commonwealth Games.

Held over two days (July 11 and 12) the trials will commence at 10.30am at The Griffin Bowls Club in Southern Way.

The games have been arranged between the perspective Commonwealth Games squad and players from the east and south of England.

It will give selectors the opportunity to identify promising new bowlers.

Matches have been arranged for both men and women competing in singles, pairs and triples. It is the first time the club and Harlow itself has been chosen for such a prestigious occasion.

DOUBLE JOY: Dudley Baker and his wife Rosalyn have been honoured by the National Association of Boys Clubs (YHDGJB9S-02)

National recognition is Bakers' double!

A BOXING club stalwart has joined her husband by being recognised by the National Association of Boys Clubs.

Rosalyn Baker (57), who has been secretary of the Harlow Boxing Club for 30 years, was presented with a special award from the organisation, and followed in the footsteps of her husband, former Harlow

Town FC star player of the 1960s Dudley Baker.

The pair, of Kingsland, Harlow, are believed to be the first married couple in Harlow to both be recognised by the National Association of Boys Clubs.

Dudley (71) has been involved with sports clubs in Harlow for 50 years, since moving to the town in the 1950s.

He has been treasurer of the boxing club, based in Ladyshot, for 45 years.

Dudley first moved to Harlow in 1959 when he joined Harlow Town FC. He became involved with the Harlow ABC in 1964 and his wife joined the club as secretary in 1979.

Rosalyn does all the accounts for the club.

The pair have been praised by the National Association of Boys Clubs. "We are helping to keep kids off the streets. With this knife culture it is so important to have boys clubs," explained Dudley.

The club treasurer was delighted that his partner had also been recognised. "She has been a rock for the club," he said.

STRIVING FOR EXCELLENCE:
Andrew Osagie needs a big race this weekend at the U-23 AAAs

It's win or bust

IT'S win or bust for Andrew Osagie in the UK U-23/U-20 AAAs Championships at Bedford this weekend.

If the Harlow 800m runner can break 1 min 48 secs he will be called up for the Great Britain Under-23 squad for the European Championships in Kanus, Lithuania, next month.

But his coach Craig Winrow believes victory in Sunday's final will convince the GB selectors to pick the highly-rated 21-year-old – even if he does not achieve the qualifying time.

Athletics ace needs top time for GB selection

Harlow Athletic Club runner Osagie, a former Leventhorpe School student, is returning to form after a painful two years where the combination of shin splints and a foot injury has dogged his fledgling career.

Osagie, currently ranked 15th in Europe (U-23s), burst onto the national stage in 2007 when he competed for England at an international meeting in Bratislava, Slovakia.

This is the first time in the last three years he has completed an indoor AND outdoor season and this bodes well.

"He has been progressing. He is getting close to the qualifying time [for a GB U-23 call-up]. I am hoping if he raises his game on the day he will come out and win. I want the selectors to pick him even if he has not got the qualifying time. They have to look at his performance," he told Star Sport.

If Osagie wins at Bedford he could still miss out on GB selection if he does not make the 1:47 qualifying time. "It's a dilemma for the selectors. It's a case of whether they are flexible with selection," added Winrow.

Osagie competed against international competition in Spain last weekend.

He was fifth in the 800m final, finishing behind the Cuban winner.

He will be up against high-quality opposition at Bedford in the shape of Paul Bradshaw and Ed Ashton.

He will compete in a heat on Saturday and should make the semi-final when he will bid for a place in Sunday's final.

Skipper fumes as Harlow are thrashed

Buckhurst Hill 263-2d, Harlow 133
Harlow lost by 130 runs
Shepherd Neame Essex League, div two

SKIPPER James Butler slammed his side's inept fielding as Harlow crashed to a massive 130-run defeat at Buckhurst Hill on Saturday.

The mid-table hosts put on a commanding 262-2 declared and this proved too big a mountain to climb for Harlow as their promotion hopes were severely dented.

"Saturday was simply the worst display of fielding I have ever seen in my time at the club. We were awful, dropping five catches that could be put in the 'straightforward' category and fielded like drains, not bowling or batting much better. We walked away with one point and to be honest, we didn't really deserve that," fumed Butler, pictured right.

Bowling first, Harlow began well with the new ball pair of Jason McNally and Luke Heskett looking good but not getting much luck.
